WAR BALLOON TO VISIT MARYVILLE

EXHIBIT OF BALLOONS USED IN WAR TO BE PUT ON MONDAY

THE DETAILS OF SERVICE

Exhibit Being Held in Four States in Interest of Recruiting—To Show Pictures of Battle Conditions

Citizens of Maryville and vicinity will have an opportunity to see some [illegible] army balloons which were used in actual service along the fighting fronts of France, next Monday, Aug. 11. The purpose of the exhibit is to stimulate interest in recruiting, and Jams T. Neely, second lieutenant, A. S. M. A., has sent the following communication to the Commercial Club explaining the details and purpose of the showing:

"The Twelfth Balloon Company Motor Convoy, from the American Expeditionary Forces, will arrive in Maryville, Missouri, with a war balloon exhibit on August 11, 1919, and leave on August 12, 1919.

"This company is making a two months tour of the states of Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska under actual field conditions and with the same equipment it used while part of the American Expeditionary Forces, France. It is the most distinguished company in the balloon service, having been three times cited for bravery and efficiency under fire and having participated in all of the American drives with distinction.

Exhibitions of war balloons have been very limited and extremely few people have ever had an opportunity to familiarize themselves with this most attractive branch of the army.

Our exhibition includes among other things an American observation balloon, balloon instruments, parachutes, balloon windlass, field radio and telephone sets, balloon telephone sets, machine guns(truck train and various other equipment used by a balloon company in the field of operation. In addition we will show a set of films containing scenes of an American balloon in action, its destruction by a German airplane, the escape of the observers in parachutes, the destruction of the German aeroplane by an American plane and the capture of the German pilot by American troops. There is also anther film showing the rigging, adjusting, inflation and flight of both captive and free balloons. These pictures were taken on the front under fire and are the best ones ever obtained by government photogrphers in showing this branch of the service in action. A short talk by one of the officers will be given in conjunction with these films which will be shown at local theatres. The company will pitch its own camp, cook its own food, and conduct its manuvers under actual field conditions.

"The object of our trip is to recruit the company up to its authorized strength of 200 men. As we have at present only approximately 50 officers and men in this organization, it will be seen that there are excellent opportunities for young men with us. This subject, however, will be gone into in detail at a later date and through the proper publicity channels.

"Our primary object is to have the date and fact of our arrival properly announced and circulated in order to insure that all in your neighborhood will have an opportunity to pierce the veil of mystery which has so far more or less surrounded the balloon and dirigible work; and thereby gain much valuable and interesting information on a comparatively unknown, though extremely important subject. Again on behalf of your country and your local interests, allow me to request a hearty co-operation in our endeavors.

"JAMES T. NEELY.

The heat was so intense this afternoon that people were forced to let up a little on their usual activities. OPERATIC COMPANY IS WELL RECEIVED

A WELL ROUNDED PROGRAM PLEASES NIGHT CROWD

LOOSE TELLS OF CRIME

Detective Harry Loose Tells of Causes and Remedies of Crime—Criminals' Ill-fated End

A large evening crowd attended the program at the chantauqua last night when the Boston Opera Singers presented a concert, the program consisting of selections from great operas, solos, duets, trios and quartets. Several of the encores included many of the old time ballads and semi-classics.

Louise Stalling, well known soprano, who heads a company of her own next season, and Esther Schultze, contralto, made a very favorable impression, both in selections and quartet singing.

Joseph Mathieu, basso, and Percy Richards, tenor, delighted the audience by their singing, both in solo work and duet. They have good voices and show familiarity with operatic work.

Mary Schenck, pianiste, was probably the best accompanist that has ever appeared in chautauqua work of this nature. In her piano selections she exhibited real artistic ability.

The program for last night was:

Quartet—"Viking Song" (S. Coleridge-Taylor).
Basso—Selected.
Duet—"The Short Cut"—soprano and tenor—(Troterc).
Quartet—"Madrigal" (The Mikado)—Sullivan.
Soprano—Selected.
Piano—Selected.
Quartet—"Sancta Mater (Stabat Mater)—Rossini.
Intermission.
Trio—"Daughter of the Regiment"—(Donizettit).
Tenor—Selected.
Contralto—Readings.
Quartet—
"God's agwine to move all de trouble away" (Burleigh).
"De Ole Ark's amoverin'" (Guion)
Duet—"The Two Beggars" (H. Lane Wilson).
Quartet — Grand selection from "Martha" (Flotow).

Detective Harry J. Loose of the police force in Chicago, gave a lecture yesterday afternoon that held the crowd breathless, at times, and demanded the attention of everybody in his hearing.

Mr. Loose gave a vivid description of the many kinds of crimes which are committed every day. He began with a brief but telling description of the beginning and end of the innocent country girl who goes to the city to see the bright lights and who eventually takes the plunge into a life of shame. He warned the girls that it was an awful thing to end your life in a resort in Chicago and be buried in Potters' Field.

Detective Loose had with him a very complete display of burglary tools and weapons of all kinds and briefly explained what they are used for. Among these exhibits was a sawed-off shotgun that had played a prominent part on Death Corner in the Italian district in Chicago.

The investigation which led to the enactemnt of the Harrison Anti-Drug Act was reviewed briefly. Mr. Loose told how "route builders" passed out envelopes of cocaine to young boys and girls, suggesting that they try some, and telling them where they could get more in case they desired such. Three or four doses of that stuff and one becomes a fiend for it.

It is not alcoholic drink and drugs that is wholly responsible for the increase of the number of criminals in the big towns but something else that is overlooked by most persons. This is the failure of parents and public-spirited people to recognize the fact that a social nature is an instinctive part of every young girl and boy. This social nature cannot be stifled or killed. It must be satisfied in one way or another. If no provision is made to take care of the social life of the young people in our small towns then they seek an outlet in the big cities where many of them go wrong.

"I have seen too many girls go the suicide route in Chicago and have listened to too many of them give their dying testimony, cursing their mothers and fathers with their last breath because they were kept in ignorance of things they should have known and because they refused to satisfy the desire for clean associations and harmless amusement.

"I have knelt on the floor of police stations when some young fellow was breathing his last, dying from wounds inflicted in a fight with officers of the law, and try to get them to tell me what their real name was so that I could send word to their parents back in some small town of their boy's ill-fated death.

"The crying need today is supervised and clean amusement for the young people. Make a place in the life of your town for the young people and you will save your boys and girls and lessen the problem of crime in the cities."

NOTED ENGLISH NOBLEMAN HERE

SIR JOHN FOSTER FRASER SPEAKS AT CHAUTAUQUA TONIGHT

WAS KNIGHTED IN 1917

Tells This Morning of Present World Problems—Asiatic Competition a Big Factor

Sir John Foster Frazer, F. R. G. S., honors Maryville with his presence today. The occasion of his visit here is to deliver an address at the Chautauqua this evening upon the subject, "Re-making the Map of the World."

Sir John comes to us from the Paris Peace Conference, where he was the leading press correspondent from Great Britain. During the war he was chairman of Great Britain's War Lecture Bureau." For his services to Great Britain during the war period Sir John was knighted in 1917 at Buckingham Palace by King George.

Probably no man in Great Britain is more familiar with international affairs than Sir John. He has spent his life studying international problems, has traveled for twenty-five years in all countries of the world, is personally acquainted with the world's leading diplomats, has been a member of Parliament, editor of a leading London paper and is the author of some thirteen authoritative books on international problems.

He comes before his audience tonight with a great message and one that will cover the big international questions of the day in a most intelligent manner.

The matters of particular interest that will be discussed tonight in part are: the Paris Peace Conference, the League of Nations, the Shantung affair, the Russian situation, the condition of the smaller countries of Europe, Germany and trade projects of the after war period, and many other problems of momentous import in world affairs.

Speaking of the popularity of Wilson in Europe during his stay there, Sir John said: "Wilson's popularity dwindled somewhat, but so would the popularity of any man. He was looked upon by the people of Europe when he landed as an arch-angel. He was given the greatest honors accorded the head of a government since the days of the Roman empire. He was the only head of a government to attend the Paris peace conference in person, and was so recognized. He sat in a chair of crimson and gold, while the other delegates sat in ordinary chairs.

"President Wilson came to France with an international vision, with the League of Nations. It was hard for France to look at things from an international standpoint when her national entity as a nation had been nearly blotted out and she wanted to make sure that there would be no chances taken in the future.

"Wilson will go down in history as one of the great men of the ages. Anyone occupying the office as head of the government of the United States in the times of the world war would of necessity become famous. The president of the United States exerts more power than the head of any government in the world today.

"There are many domestic problems arising out of this war. For example, there is the problem of profiteering that has arisen in this country and in mine. My country has handled this matter, I believe, more successfully than the United States for the reason that it has studied it longer. We organized a Ministry of Reconstruction three years ago to consider policies

FIND PROFITEERS IN SHOE INDUSTRY

PRESENT HIGH COST OF SHOES ENTIRELY UNJUSAIFIED

BOOST PRICE ALONG LINE

Federal Trade Commission Investigation Reveals Excessive Profits Have Been Made by All Shoe Interests

Washington, Aug. 6.—The present high cost of shoes is entirely unjustifiable. This is the finding of the federal trade commission to be submitted to Congress following an investigation of the activities of packers, tanners, manufacturers, and retailers during the period from 1914 to 1918, it was announced today.

The report of the commission shows a succession of profiteering down the line. The commission found, according to report, that one of the Lamar packers controlling the supply, has taken successive profits, and has passed the increased costs to subsequent steps in the manufacturer and and distributor. Two tanners have made excessive profits. Three manufacturers have taken unusual margins. Four prices were charged by the retailer as unjustifiable, each factor in the industry having added to the burden he had to bear, just before it was passed on to the next.

K-C RAILROAD SHOPS TIED UP BY STRIKE

Conditions in Omaha Partially Held Up by Strike—Situation in Maryville the Same

Kansas City, Aug. 6.—Every railroad shop in greater Kansas City is tied up by the strike of the shopmen. The Burlington and Kansas City Southern quit at noon today. They are to maintain the passenger service only. An embargo has bee placed on perishable freight and cattle.

The freight situation growing out of the railway carmens strike is practically unchanged in Maryville. The Burlington is still running freight trains but the Wabash has received orders to refuse all consignments of perishable goods. No frieght trains are being run on the latter line.

According to telegraphic communication received at the office of the Wabash in this city, Omaha and Council Bluffs are only partially tied up by the strike. The Chicago and Great Western and the Chicago and Northwestern are still running trains into the latter cities and the schedule has not been affected. The shops of the C. & N W. at Boone, Ia., are out on strike. Freight is being handled over the Rock Island at Council Bluffs, but the company shops at Valley Junction, Ia., are closed down by strike.

The Illinois Central and the Union Pacific are both maintaining their regular freight schedule at Omaha.

DANIELS' QUICK REPLY.

London, Aug. 6.—Mr. Daniels, the secretary of the United States navy, has the gift of the happy retort, as he showed here recently when someone was twitting him about his views on prohibition and the absence of a rum ration in the American navy, says the London Evening News.

"Do you think your navy fights better when it lacks spirits?" Mr. Daniels was asked.

"Certainly," was the reply. "A navy naturally fights better on water."

of reconstruction in the post war period.

"The policy adopted then and still followed in order to reduce the high cost of living was the fixing of maximum prices for articles of food and wear. These prices were strictly adhered to and heavy penalties imposed for the least violation of these regulations.

"Another problem is that of the liquor question. England is thinking of temperance while you are practicing prohibition. To make the people of Great Britain more temperate laws have been enacted limiting the hours when saloons can be open for business, increasing the tax on alcoholic beverages enormously, decreasing the alcoholic strength of liquors, making the saloons on week ends refrain from selling spiritous liquors and making inroads upon the laborer's pay. Bars cannot sell liquors from 2:30 p. m. Friday until 12:30 p. m. Monday.

"There is bound to be an enormous increase in international trade in the coming years. A new feature of this problem will be the entrance of Asiatic competition into the markets of the world. The people of Japan and China are industrious and work for one-sixth the amount a white man demands. These countries will be able to put on the market cheap goods that are bound to have an effect upon the price of cheap articles made in other countries. The 'yellow peril' of the future is an economic one.

"In England there is a better understanding between labor and capital than there has ever been. Labor is represented in Parliament and had a delegate to the Paris peace conference. There is a growing desire to settle labor disputes by arbitration. Profit sharing plans and co-operative organizations will play a large part in future economic life.

"Germany, even if barred from increased international trade on the seas, will be able to largely recoup her lost fortunes by supplying the vast population of Russia with manufactured articles. Germany has secured and will exploit that country.

Russia, itself, will probably revert to a constitutional monarchy. The people of Russia must have some man to take the place of the Tsar, even if he be only a figurehead.

"The outlook in European countries is not rosy, but it is not impossible of solution. America has not suffered as England and France have suffered in this war. It is more prosperous than these countries now and can afford to take more chances in its reconstrutcion policies."

HER NEIGHBORS WERE SURPRISED

They Thought End Was Near For Mrs. Colton—Tanlac Brought Health.

"You may say for me that I don't believe I could have lived much longer if it had not been for Tanlac," said Mrs. George Colton, when the Special Tanlac representative who had heard of her remarkable recovery, called at her residence, 1114 East 21st Street, Kansas City, recently, to ascertain the facts.

"Since I have got wel," continued Mrs. Colton, "my neighbors tell me they used to expect every morning to hear that I had passed away. My health had been failing me for seven years. I had no appetite and what little I did eat would sour on my stomach, causing nausea and intense suffering. I also suffered, like I believe thousands of other women are, from going through that period of life that taxes a woman's strength almost beyond endurance. I was unable to do any work and would get so discouraged at times that I would almost give up in despair. I was very dizzy and so nervous the least noise would nearly drive me distracted, and while I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief nothing helped me. My back and head ached all the time and no one knows how terrible my suffering was, because I just can't fully describe it. No one thought I would get well and I had about lost all hope myself.

"But here I am, after taking eight bottles of Tanlac, able to do all my housework and everybody who knew how bad off I was is surprised at my wonderful recovery. My son, who had taken Tanlac, wrote me from Omaha, Nebraska, begging me to try it. Well, it commenced helping me almost at once and by the time I had finished my second bottle I noticed a great improvement. My appetite got better, I was less nervous and the pains in my back and head did not trouble me so much. I can get just anything I want now, everything agrees with me perfectly, and I have gained ten pounds in weight. I can sleep eight or nine hours every night and can say that my health is just splendid, and my neighbors come to see me and go away praising Tanlac. I will always praise it for what it has done for me and never expect to be without it."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Carter Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wiley, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, in Arkoe by Rufus R. Smith, and in Hopkins by Hopkins Drug Co."

EXHIBIT OF BALLOONS USED IN WAR TO BE PUT ON MONDAY

THE DETAILS OF SERVICE

Exhibit Being Held in Four States in Interest of Recruiting—To Show Pictures of Battle Conditions

Citizens of Maryville and vicinity will have an opportunity to see some [illegible] army balloons which were used in actual service along the fighting fronts of France, next Monday, Aug. 11. The purpose of the exhibit is to stimulate interest in recruiting, and Jams T. Neely, second lieutenant, A. S. M. A., has sent the following communication to the Commercial Club explaining the details and purpose of the showing:

"The Twelfth Balloon Company Motor Convoy, from the American Expeditionary Forces, will arrive in Maryville, Missouri, with a war balloon exhibit on August 11, 1919, and leave on August 12, 1919.

"This company is making a two months tour of the states of Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska under actual field conditions and with the same equipment it used while part of the American Expeditionary Forces, France. It is the most distinguished company in the balloon service, having been three times cited for bravery and efficiency under fire and having participated in all of the American drives with distinction.

Exhibitions of war balloons have been very limited and extremely few people have ever had an opportunity to familiarize themselves with this most attractive branch of the army.

Our exhibition includes among other things an American observation balloon, balloon instruments, parachutes, balloon windlass, field radio and telephone sets, balloon telephone sets, machine guns(truck train and various other equipment used by a balloon company in the field of operation. In addition we will show a set of films containing scenes of an American balloon in action, its destruction by a German airplane, the escape of the observers in parachutes, the destruction of the German aeroplane by an American plane and the capture of the German pilot by American troops. There is also anther film showing the rigging, adjusting, inflation and flight of both captive and free balloons. These pictures were taken on the front under fire and are the best ones ever obtained by government photogrphers in showing this branch of the service in action. A short talk by one of the officers will be given in conjunction with these films which will be shown at local theatres. The company will pitch its own camp, cook its own food, and conduct its manuvers under actual field conditions.

"The object of our trip is to recruit the company up to its authorized strength of 200 men. As we have at present only approximately 50 officers and men in this organization, it will be seen that there are excellent opportunities for young men with us. This subject, however, will be gone into in detail at a later date and through the proper publicity channels.

"Our primary object is to have the date and fact of our arrival properly announced and circulated in order to insure that all in your neighborhood will have an opportunity to pierce the veil of mystery which has so far more or less surrounded the balloon and dirigible work; and thereby gain much valuable and interesting information on a comparatively unknown, though extremely important subject. Again on behalf of your country and your local interests, allow me to request a hearty co-operation in our endeavors.

COOPER GOODEN TURNED IN HIS REPORT LAST NIGHT

Lists 68 Dogs as Licensed, 93 as Unlicensed, and 10 as Killed—Mayor Garrett Issues a Warning

Cooper Gooden, dog e[illegible]ctor, turned in his report to th[illegible]mission-ers at their regular me[illegible]ight. His report lists sixty-ei[illegible]at have the license of $3 paid and ninety-three others that [illegible] counted but no license paid for. Ten dogs have been killed.

Mayor Garrett states that the owners of the ninety-three dogs upon which no license has been paid will have to dispose of them some way or make an accounting for them. Not only must the license be paid upon a dog but anyone who harbors a dog against the ordinances of the city of Maryville is liable to arrest and a fine.

The Mayor will appoint four special policemen to patrol the fair grounds. These appointments will be made later in the week.

THE MERCURY SOARS TO 100

J. R. Brink Reports the Hottest Day of the Summer—People Swelter in Tropical Temperature

The mercury soared to the 100 mark at 1 o'clock this afternoon, according to J. R. Brink, U. S. Weather Observer. This is the highest temperature reached this year and one of the hottest days of recent years.

The heat was so intense this afternoon that people were forced to let up a little on their usual activities. Farmers, working in the fields, had to slacken their pace and several persons claim to have been affected temporarily because of the high temperature. A good rain would be the most welcome visitor this community could have.

OPERATIC COMPANY IS WELL RECEIVED

A WELL ROUNDED PROGRAM PLEASES NIGHT CROWD

LOOSE TELLS OF CRIME

Detective Harry Loose Tells of Causes and Remedies of Crime—Criminals' Ill-fated End

A large evening crowd attended the program at the chantauqua last night when the Boston Opera Singers presented a concert, the program consisting of selections from great operas, solos, duets, trios and quartets. Several of the encores included many of the old time ballads and semi-classics.

Louise Stalling, well known soprano, who heads a company of her own next season, and Esther Schultze, contralto, made a very favorable impression, both in selections and quartet singing.

Joseph Mathieu, basso, and Percy Richards, tenor, delighted the audience by their singing, both in solo work and duet. They have good voices and show familiarity with operatic work.

Mary Schenck, pianiste, was probably the best accompanist that has ever appeared in chautauqua work of this nature. In her piano selections she exhibited real artistic ability.

The program for last night was:

Quartet—"Viking Song" (S. Coleridge-Taylor).
Basso—Selected.
Duet—"The Short Cut"—soprano and tenor—(Trotere).
Quartet—"Madrigal" (The Mikado)—Sullivan.
Soprano—Selected.
Piano—Selected.
Quartet—"Sancta Mater (Stabat Mater)—Rossini.
Intermission.
Trio—"Daughter of the Regiment"—(Donizettit).
Tenor—Selected.
Contralto—Readings.
Quartet—
"God's agwine to move all de trouble away" (Burleigh).
"De Ole Ark's amoverin'" (Guion)
Duet—"The Two Beggars" (H. Lane Wilson).
Quartet — Grand selection from "Martha" (Flotow).

Detective Harry J. Loose of the police force in Chicago, gave a lecture yesterday afternoon that held the crowd breathless, at times, and demanded the attention of everybody in his hearing.

Mr. Loose gave a vivid description of the many kinds of crimes which are committed every day. He began with a brief but telling description of the beginning and end of the innocent country girl who goes to the city to see the bright lights and who eventually takes the plunge into a life of shame. He warned the girls that it was an awful thing to end your life in a resort in Chicago and be buried in Potters' Field.

Detective Loose had with him a very complete display of burglary tools and weapons of all kinds and briefly explained what they are used for. Among these exhibits was a sawed-off shotgun that had played a prominent part on Death Corner in the Italian district in Chicago.

The investigation which led to the enactemnt of the Harrison Anti-Drug Act was reviewed briefly. Mr. Loose told how "route builders" passed out envelopes of cocaine to young boys and girls, suggesting that they try some, and telling them where they could get more in case they desired such. Three or four doses of that stuff and one becomes a fiend for it.

It is not alcoholic drink and drugs that is wholly responsible for the increase of the number of criminals in the big towns but something else that is overlooked by most persons. This is the failure of parents and public-spirited people to recognize the fact that a social nature is an instinctive part of every young girl and boy. This social nature cannot be stifled or killed. It must be satisfied in one way or another. If no provision is made to take care of the social life of the young people in our small towns then they seek an outlet in the big cities where many of them go wrong.

"I have seen too many girls go the suicide route in Chicago and have listened to too many of them give their dying testimony, cursing their mothers and fathers with their last breath because they were kept in ignorance of things they should have known and because they refused to satisfy the desire for clean associations and harmless amusement.

"I have knelt on the floor of police stations when some young fellow was breathing his last, dying from wounds inflicted in a fight with officers of the law, and try to get them to tell me what their real name was so that I could send word to their parents back in some small town of their boy's ill-fated death.

"The crying need today is supervised and clean amusement for the young people. Make a place in the life of your town for the young people and you will save your boys and girls and lessen the problem of crime in the cities."

NOTED ENGLISH NOBLEMAN HERE

SIR JOHN FOSTER FRASER SPEAKS AT CHAUTAUQUA TONIGHT

WAS KNIGHTED IN 1917

Tells This Morning of Present World Problems—Asiatic Competition a Big Factor

Sir John Foster Frazer, F. R. G. S., honors Maryville with his presence today. The occasion of his visit here is to deliver an address at the Chautauqua this evening upon the subject, "Re-making the Map of the World."

Sir John comes to us from the Paris Peace Conference, where he was the leading press correspondent from Great Britain. During the war he was chairman of Great Britain's War Lecture Bureau." For his services to Great Britain during the war period Sir John was knighted in 1917 at Buckingham Palace by King George.

Probably no man in Great Britain is more familiar with international affairs than Sir John. He has spent his life studying international problems, has traveled for twenty-five years in all countries of the world, is personally acquainted with the world's leading diplomats, has been a member of Parliament, editor of a leading London paper and is the author of some thirteen authoritative books on international problems.

He comes before his audience tonight with a great message and one that will cover the big international questions of the day in a most intelligent manner.

The matters of particular interest that will be discussed tonight in part are: the Paris Peace Conference, the League of Nations, the Shantung affair, the Russian situation, the condition of the smaller countries of Europe, Germany and trade projects of the after war period, and many other problems of momentous import in world affairs.

Speaking of the popularity of Wilson in Europe during his stay there, Sir John said: "Wilson's popularity dwindled somewhat, but so would the popularity of any man. He was looked upon by the people of Europe when he landed as an arch-angel. He was given the greatest honors accorded the head of a government since the days of the Roman empire. He was the only head of a government to attend the Paris peace conference in person, and was so recognized. He sat in a chair of crimson and gold, while the other delegates sat in ordinary chairs.

"President Wilson came to France with an international vision, with the League of Nations. It was hard for France to look at things from an international standpoint when her national entity as a nation had been nearly blotted out and she wanted to make sure that there would be no chances taken in the future.

"Wilson will go down in history as one of the great men of the ages. Anyone occupying the office as head of the government of the United States in the times of the world war would of necessity become famous. The president of the United States exerts more power than the head of any government in the world today.

"There are many domestic problems arising out of this war. For example, there is the problem of profiteering that has arisen in this country and in mine. My country has handled this matter, I believe, more successfully than the United States for the reason that it has studied it longer. We organized a Ministry of Reconstruction three years ago to consider policies

No strike will be resorted to by the Brotherhood to force any plan railroad operating on Congress, to increase wages or bring about the reduction of the cost of living, he told the committee.

FIND PROFITEERS IN SHOE INDUSTRY

PRESENT HIGH COST OF SHOES ENTIRELY UNJUSAIFIED

BOOST PRICE ALONG LINE

Federal Trade Commission Investigation Reveals Excessive Profits Have Been Made by All Shoe Interests

Washington, Aug. 6.—The present high cost of shoes is entirely unjustifiable. This is the finding of the federal trade commission to be submitted to Congress following an investigation of the activities of packers, tanners, manufacturers, and retailers during the period from 1914 to 1918, it was announced today.

The report of the commission shows a succession of profiteering down the line. The commission found, according to report, that one of the Lamar packers controlling the supply, has taken successive profits, and has passed the increased costs to subsequent steps in the manufacturer and and distributor. Two tanners have made excessive profits. Three manufacturers have taken unusual margins. Four prices were charged by the retailer as unjustifiable, each factor in the industry having added to the burden he had to bear, just before it was passed on to the next.

K-C RAILROAD SHOPS TIED UP BY STRIKE

Conditions in Omaha Partially Held Up by Strike—Situation in Maryville the Same

Kansas City, Aug. 6.—Every railroad shop in greater Kansas City is tied up by the strike of the shopmen. The Burlington and Kansas City Southern quit at noon today. They are to maintain the passenger service only. An embargo has bee placed on perishable freight and cattle.

The freight situation growing out of the railway earmens strike is practically unchanged in Maryville. The Burlington is still running freight trains but the Wabash has received orders to refuse all consignments of perishable goods. No frieght trains are being run on the latter line.

According to telegraphic communication received at the office of the Wabash in this city, Omaha and Council Bluffs are only partially tied up by the strike. The Chicago and Great Western and the Chicago and Northwestern are still running trains into the latter cities and the schedule has not been affected. The shops of the C. & N. W. at Boone, Ia., are out on strike. Freight is being handled over the Rock Island at Council Bluffs, but the company shops at Valley Junction, Ia., are closed down by strike.

The Illinois Central and the Union Pacific are both maintaining their regular freight schedule at Omaha.

DANIELS' QUICK REPLY.

London, Aug. 6.—Mr. Daniels, the secretary of the United States navy, has the gift of the happy retort, as he showed here recently when someone was twitting him about his views on prohibition and the absence of a rum ration in the American navy, says the London Evening News.

"Do you think your navy fights better when it lacks spirits?" Mr. Daniels was asked.

"Certainly," was the reply. "A navy naturally fights better on water."

of reconstruction in the post war period.

"The policy adopted then and still followed in order to reduce the high cost of living was the fixing of maximum prices for articles of food and wear. These prices were strictly adhered to and heavy penalties imposed for the least violation of these regulations.

"Another problem is that of the liquor question. England is thinking of temperance while you are practicing prohibition. To make the people of Great Britain more temperate laws have been enacted limiting the hours when saloons can be open for business, increasing the tax on alcoholic beverages enormously, decreasing the alcoholic strength of liquors, making the saloons on week ends refrain from selling spiritous liquors and making inroads upon the laborer's pay. Bars cannot sell liquors from 2:30 p. m. Friday until 12:30 p. m. Monday.

"There is bound to be an enormous increase in international trade in the coming years. A new feature of this problem will be the entrance of Asiatic competition into the markets of the world. The people of Japan and China are industrious and work for one-sixth the amount a white man demands. These countries will be able to put on the market cheap goods that are bound to have an effect upon the price of cheap articles made in other countries. The 'yellow peril' of the future is an economic one.

"In England there is a better understanding between labor and capital than there has ever been. Labor is represented in Parliament and had a delegate to the Paris peace conference. There is a growing desire to settle labor disputes by arbitration. Profit sharing plans and co-operative organizations will play a large part in future economic life.

"Germany, even if barred from increased international trade on the seas, will be able to largely recoup her lost fortunes by supplying the vast population of Russia with manufactured articles. Germany has secured and will exploit that country.

Russia, itself, will probably revert to a constitutional monarchy. The people of Russia must have some man to take the place of the Tsar, even if he be only a figurehead.

"The outlook in European countries is not rosy, but it is not impossible of solution. America has not suffered as England and France have suffered in this war. It is more prosperous than these countries now and can afford to take more chances in its reconstrutcion policies."

HER NEIGHBORS WERE SURPRISED

They Thought End Was Near For Mrs. Colton—Tanlac Brought Health.

"You may say for me that I don't believe I could have lived much longer if it had not been for Tanlac," said Mrs. George Colton, when the Special Tanlac representative who had heard of her remarkable recovery, called at her residence, 1114 East 21st Street, Kansas City, recently, to ascertain the facts.

"Since I have got wel," continued Mrs. Colton, "my neighbors tell me they used to expect every morning to hear that I had passed away. My health had been failing me for seven years. I had no appetite and what little I did eat would sour on my stomach, causing nausea and intense suffering. I also suffered, like I believe thousands of other women are, from going through that period of life that taxes a woman's strength almost beyond endurance. I was unable to do any work and would get so discouraged at times that I would almost give up in despair. I was very dizzy and so nervous the least noise would nearly drive me distracted, and while I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get relief nothing helped me. My back and head ached all the time and no one knows how terrible my suffering was, because I just can't fully describe it. No one thought I would get well and I had about lost all hope myself.

"But here I am, after taking eight bottles of Tanlac, able to do all my housework and everybody who knew how bad off I was is surprised at my wonderful recovery. My son, who had taken Tanlac, wrote me from Omaha, Nebraska, begging me to try it. Well, it commenced helping me almost at once and by the time I had finished my second bottle I noticed a great improvement. My appetite got better, I was less nervous and the pains in my back and head did not trouble me so much. I can get just anything I want now, everything agrees with me perfectly, and I have gained ten pounds in weight. I can sleep eight or nine hours every night and can say that my health is just splendid, and my neighbors come to see me and go away praising Tanlac. I will always praise it for what it has done for me and never expect to be without it."

"Tanlac is sold in Maryville by Koch Pharmacy, in Conception Junction by A. M. Colly, in Pickering by H. M. Lincoln, in Burlington Junction by Carter Pharmacy, in Barnard by Bear Drug Co., in Elmo by King Drug Co., in Clearmont by Dr. W. H. Wiley, in Ravenwood by C. A. Shunk, in Arkoe by Rufus R. Smith, and in Hopkins by Hopkins Drug Co."
